Attention: Ken Kidd

I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to IMT for the excellent work performed on the installation of our office workspaces.

IMT was selected over a number of other companies because of the quality of their product; ease of installation; and the versatility of wall configurations that can suit varied individual layouts. All aspects of the project were handled with a high degree of professionalism and experience, from the sales presentation through design and planning stages, to the coordination of subtrades required during the installation process.

It was the goal of our company to minimize the disruption to normal business activities during setup and installation of the modular office system. IMT delivered what they promised with an efficient team that worked around our staff during daytime hours and well into the evening when required, solving all the challenges of fitting the modular walls around bulkheads and tight spaces.

The finished product is a striking change to the original cloth partitions. The flow of the wallspace and the continuity of surfaces and colour creates a work environment that is quiet, comfortable, and efficient. Visitors to our office have commented on the professional looking layout and appearance. The staff of ATCO EnviroTech is very pleased with their new offices that permits the expression of individual tastes in decoration.

I am also impressed with the expedient reaction to post installation issues. The quick service and solutions delivered on problems related to fit and function is a testament to the dedication and commitment of IMT to ensure their customer's satisfaction long after the project completion.

I highly recommend IMT's products and office space solutions to create a professional and functional work environment.

My recommendation is dedicated to the memory of Norm Ryckman, whose personal energy and enthusiasm for IMT's product was instrumental in the award of this project.
